A Message from the California State Teachers Retirement System

Dear Educator: We are pleased to participate in a partnership with the Department of Education to bring this year's Educational Resources Catalog directly to your home. The CalSTRS Board agreed that this joint project would provide you with an excellent resource that might not otherwise be available to you.

I assure you that CalSTRS preserves the integrity and confidentiality of member records and maintains control of member addresses in a project such as this. Again, we hope that you will enjoy the convenience of receiving this comprehensive resource.

Standards-Based Education

Aiming High: High Schools for the Twenty-first Century

Aiming High: High Schools for the Twenty-first Century is a practical, useful document that outlines in 10 chapters a plan for raising student achievement and implementing a standards-based education. Parents, teachers, and administrators will find this publication on high school reform helpful and informative. The book contains discussions of the roles of assessment and data, the provisions for English learners, and the support systems needed for all students' success. 2002, 184 pp.

Item 001559—$13.25

Aiming High was conceived as a how-to document helping to place standards-based education in the context of California's rigorous new accountability system.

History–Social Science

A Research Program from UCLA

Publications from the National Center for History in the Schools

Aligns with History–Social Science Standards

In collaboration with historians, teachers involved in curriculum development with the National Center for History in the Schools have prepared these publications. Each includes multiple primary sources and activities to bring history to life and engage students in learning. The research series and classroom units are particularly valuable for teachers preparing daily and weekly lesson plans. Classroom units address California's history–social science content standards as indicated in parentheses.

U.S. History Units

Asian Immigration to the United States This unit sets the experience of Asian immigration in the wider context of the general immigrant experience, helping students to understand the factors that affect migration, bring about social change, and influence U.S. policy. (Standards 11.3.4, 11.5.2, 11.11.1) 2001, 84 pp.

Item 007089—$13.00

The Harlem Renaissance In this unit students study the Harlem Renaissance in the 1920s and its role in defining African American cultural identity in the rapidly changing world of the early twentieth century. (Standard 11.5.5) 1995, 60 pp.

Item 007068—$11.50

The Origins of the Cold War Students analyze the cultural, political, historical, military, and economic factors contributing to the Cold War as well as its effects on the U.S. and its citizens. (Standard 11.9.3) 1991, 60 pp.

Item 007040—$11.50

U.S. Indian Policy, 1815-1860: Removal to Reservations This unit promotes discussion and debate as it examines the manifestation of nineteenth-century ideology in prevailing public attitudes, justifications for actions, and the formation of U.S. government policy in regard to Native Americans. (Standard 8.8.2) 2000, 100 pp.

Item 007090—$13.50

Women of the American Revolution Through a variety of contemporary accounts, students explore the significant roles of women in the Revolutionary movement and discover that the struggle for American independence drew extensively on women's support and participation. (Standard 5.6.3) 1991, 54 pp.

World History Units

Coping with Catastrophe: The Black Death of the 14th Century

In this unit, students explore the deadly plague pandemic in the world-historical perspective, relating the spread and impact of the disease, as well as varying human responses to it, to the social and cultural conditions prevailing in the mid-fourteenth century. (Standard 7.6.7) 1998, 60 pp.

Item 007061—$12.00

The Crusades from Medieval European and Muslim Perspectives

This unit focuses on the Crusades and incorporates Muslim, Christian, and Jewish perspectives. Topics include military tactics, technology, the warrior ethos, and overall goals of both sides in the conflict. (Standard 7.6.6) 1998, 76 pp.

Item 007072—$12.00

The Industrial Revolution: A Global Event

The Industrial Revolution, often regarded as a European export, was in fact a worldwide movement. This unit presents 78 case studies of individuals, from various social classes and occupations, whose lives were changed during the 1750–1914 era. (Standards 10.3.4, 10.3.5, 10.3.6, 10.4.1) 1998, 152 pp.

Item 007091—$15.00

Kongo: A Kingdom Divided The complexities of the trans-Atlantic slave trade are presented from the African perspective in this unit, which investigates the first encounter and subsequent developments between two peoples—the Portuguese and the Kongolese—in the fifteenth century. After-School Care

College Students Working in After-School and School-Age Care Programs

This three-part series promotes the participation of college students in after-school programs as a part of the curriculum. Why involve college students in after-school care? College students, through their rich and diverse skills and talents, represent an invaluable resource.

All students involved in after-school programs, no matter what their age, benefit from college-student participation:

- College students gain opportunities to apply theory to practice and observe the results as well as to serve as mentors, contribute to the community, and build their résumés.
- School-age children and youths gain powerful role models, enriched learning activities, and strengthened ties to adults, the school, and the community.

This series outlines the roles of program administrators, college faculty, and college students in implementing mutually beneficial partnerships and establishing models for collaboration between higher education and after-school programs.

Early Childhood Special Education Series

A child's early experiences lay the foundation for healthy development throughout life and readiness for lifelong learning. For young children with disabilities, development and learning depend on high-quality intervention services. This series describes proven strategies for providing those services.

Handbook on Administration of Early Childhood Special Education Programs

This document provides local educational agencies and child care providers with guidance on operating programs for infants and young children with a disability. Recent changes to laws and their implications for program providers are discussed; appendixes containing aids and resources useful to program providers working with culturally diverse families are included. 2000, 84 pp.

Item 001465—$13.50

Handbook on Assessment and Evaluation in Early Childhood Special Education Programs

Accurate assessment of a child's developmental level determines his or her future educational options. This document provides information on assessment procedures, assessment teams, best practices, and the developmental domains assessed as well as sample forms and resources for technical assistance. 2000, 76 pp.

Item 001463—$13.50

Handbook on Family Involvement in Early Childhood Special Education Programs

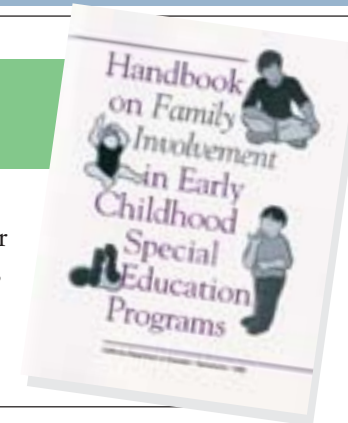

This handbook discusses the family's role in a child's success at school. Recent laws require informed parent participation in decisions made about their child's educational options. The book describes how parents can support their child at home and at school in collaboration with professionals in the special education system. 1999, 64 pp.

Item 001464—$11.25

Handbook on Developing and Implementing Early Childhood Special Education Programs and Services

This book offers criteria for developing and maintaining early intervention programs for young children with disabilities. It provides information about preferred practices in program development, relevant statutory and regulatory requirements, and resources available to local educational agencies to support these programs. 2001, 80 pp.

Item 001517—$13.50

Handbook on Developing Individualized Family Service Plans and Individualized Education Programs in Early Childhood Special Education

Legislative changes have affected the provision of services for young children with disabilities. This handbook describes the process of developing IFSPs for infants and toddlers and IEPs for preschool-age children with disabilities.

Families, child care providers, and professionals working with this population will find descriptions of their roles in the process and the proper way to complete both forms with the required information. Appendixes contain helpful background information. 2001, 104 pp.

Safe Schools: A Planning Guide for Action, 2002 Edition

This 2002 edition of Safe Schools reflects new state and federal laws and examines safety considerations and discusses how schools can develop a comprehensive school safety plan by forming partnerships with law enforcement and community agencies. A companion workbook is described below. 2002, 192 pp.

Item 001562—$12.00

The 2002 edition of Safe Schools shows how safe school plans:

- ✓ Help raise test scores.
- ✓ Reduce staff burnout and turnover.
- ✓ Help school teams link existing educational support programs and resources.
- ✓ Increase parent and community involvement in the local schools.
- ✓ Help schools compete for funding for educational and safe school needs.

Safe Schools: A Planning Guide for Action Workbook

This workbook is designed for use in training sessions on Safe Schools: A Planning Guide for Action to enable school teams to transform the idea of a safe and supportive school into comprehensive school plans that comply with state and federal requirements and provide a solid foundation for student success. The work sheets in this document will be helpful in applying for grants, including the Safe School Implementation Grant. 2002, 56 pp.

You Have to Sink Pretty Low to Teach Students Science

That's why the JASON Project has gone from the deepest ocean depths to soaring rainforest canopies, from icy polar regions to red-hot volcanoes, taking students and teachers with us on an exhilarating educational adventure.

Join us in the 2002-2003 school year for JASON XIV: From Shore to Sea, as we discover the unique, dynamic aquatic systems extending from California's coast to the Channel Islands National Marine Sanctuary.

JASON's hands-on learning activities will keep your students engaged and excited, as they query our JASON Project scientific researchers and take part in coast-to-coast science, math and geography experiments. Best of all, while they're having fun your students are also learning to grasp complex and abstract science concepts.

All the JASON Project's yearly expedition and curricular materials are correlated to each state's science, math, social studies, language arts, and technology standards.

JASON succeeds in a wide range of classrooms – including at-risk students – and with a wide range of teachers, from science and math to social studies and language arts. Our curriculum – available in Spanish, too – contains everything you need to get started, and our professional development program equips you with all the tools you need to teach science in today's technological age.

Discover for yourself:

- How the JASON Project matches your state's standards;
- Why we're making a difference in science education;
- How you and your students can join!

How would you like to order?

Choose from four easy options:

1 Call toll-free: 1-800-995-4099

Business hours: Monday—Friday, 8:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. (Pacific Standard Time)

2 Check or credit card

Send a check or charge your order to a VISA or MasterCard credit card. If ordering by mail and using VISA or MasterCard, please include the credit card number, the expiration date, and your signature.

3 Purchase order

All businesses, educational institutions, and governmental agencies may use purchase orders. A bona fide purchase order with an authorized signature is required.

4 Fax or mail

Visa or MasterCard credit card orders may also be placed by FAX at (916) 323-0823.

Do not mail the original or confirming order. Or mail your completed order form to:

California Department of Education, CDE Press Sales Office, P.O. Box 271, Sacramento, CA 95812-0271. Any duplicate orders will be treated as separate (new) orders and will be the responsibility of the customer.

30-Day Refund and Exchange Policy

Damaged or incorrect shipments must be reported to the Sales Office within 30 days of receipt. Please order carefully; all returns are subject to a 40% restocking fee plus shipping charges. All sales are final after 30 days.

International Orders

International orders must be charged to a VISA or MasterCard credit card. Please contact the Sales Office at 00-1-916-445-1260 for information and rates.

Shipping and Handling

All orders to be delivered within the continental United States are shipped via United Parcel Service (UPS), ground service, ONLY.

UPS REQUIRES A STREET ADDRESS.

Orders to HAWAII and ALASKA are shipped via UPS Second Day Air. An additional charge for the shipping cost to those states plus a handling fee will be added to your credit card order. Call us toll-free at 1-800-995-4099 for details.
